DETAILED ACTION

This communication is in response to the Applicants' Response dated 9/28/06. Claims 1-18 are pending in the application. Claims 1, 7, and 13 are independent claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Agarwal et al. (6816853), and further in view of Weinberg et al. (US 2002/0087510).

As per claim 1, Agarwal et al. teach identifying a partition identifier in accordance with the partitioning schema – col. 1, lines 40-55; col. 3, lines 5-15; "control the access of particular network users or groups of users to particular network resources" – col. 1, lines 32-55; col. 3, lines 5-16; queries against partitioned a database table, indexing and pruning – col. 2, last paragraph; col. 4, line 37 to col. 5, line 20.

Agarwal et al. et al. do not explicitly disclose database catalog information; executing the query against the identified partition. Weinberg et al. teach partitioning of table in the database – abstract, pars. 0158-0160; cataloging of data in the database – pars.

Art Unit: 2163

0006, 0037-0038, 0131; identifier of the partitions – par. 0057, 0061; schema and partitioning hierarchy – par. 0124.

Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to combine Agarwal et al.'s teaching with Weinberg et al.'s teaching with to effectively search the database portion/partition that is most appropriate to the users' queries in order to save time and operation costs.

As per claims 2-3, Agarwal et al. teach queries against partitioned a database table, indexing and pruning – col. 2, last paragraph; col. 4, line 37 to col. 5, line 20. Agarwal et al. do not teach database catalog. Agarwal et al. teach local index for each partition – fig. 2; global index: fig. 3c; col. 4, lines 37-54. However, Weinberg et al. teach cataloging of data in the database – pars. 0006, 0037-0038, 0131. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to combine Weinberg et al.'s teaching with Agarwal et al.'s teaching to effectively search the database portion/partition that is most appropriate to the users' queries in order to save time and operation costs.

As per claims 4-5, Agarwal et al. teach partition identifiers and executing queries – col. 4, lines 37-54; col. 6, line 50 to col. 7, line 48.

As per claim 6, Agarwal et al. teach forwarding the identified partition identifier to a client application requesting table data – col. 4, lines 37 to col. 5, line 65.

Application/Control Number: 10/759,154

Art Unit: 2163

Claims 7-18 claim the same subject matter as of claims 1-6 and are rejected based on the same ground of rejection.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-18 have been considered but are most in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
